

Dear parents,

Your school has been selected to be part of the exciting national PINs project between Sept 24 and March 25.

PINs stands for Partnerships for Inclusion of Neurodiversity in Schools.

The project aims to offer support from Health and Education professionals working collaboratively with schools and parent carers to strengthen relationships between all stakeholders and help shape SEND support in your school for all neurodivergent students.

Meaningful collaboration with parents/carers is vital to the success of this project and we invite all parents to take part in the survey below.

We really want to know what you think.
